

01
—
10

You are a human being.

As such, you are a sovereign individual possessing free will.

The economy of you

02
—
10

You have unique abilities and ideas
formed by your life experiences.

The economy of you

03
—
10

By your skills, ingenuity, and labour, you may manifest some of these concepts in the physical world through an act
of creation.

The economy of you

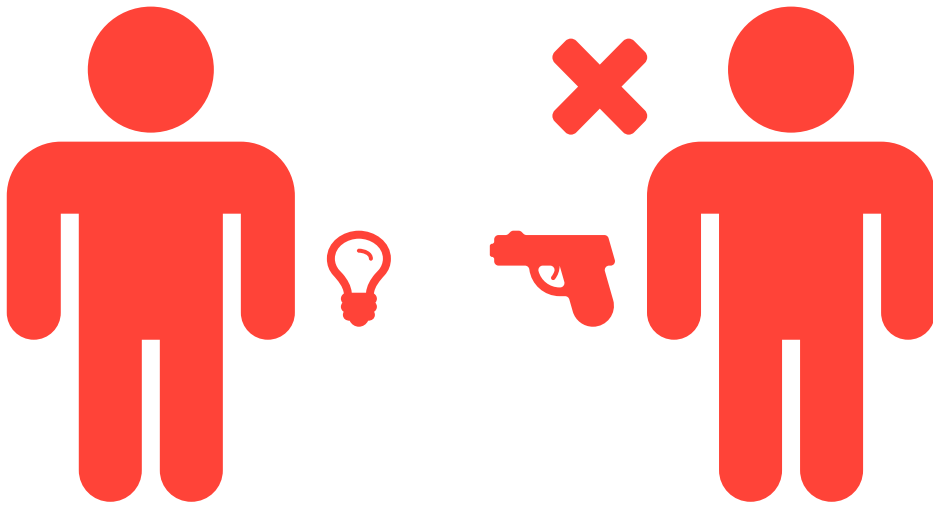

04
—
10

The products of your ingenuity and labour are extensions of your being into the physical world.

They constitute your property.

The economy of you

$\frac{05}{10}$

To separate property from an individual by force is therefore a violation of that person's sovereignty.

The economy of you

06
—
10

Individuals can engage in voluntary economic transactions with each other to obtain property on mutually agreeable terms.

The economy of you

07
10

Market activity is defined by consenting parties engaging in mutually beneficial relationships, free from outside interference.

The economy of you

08

10

Each participant willingly pursues
their individual goals
and desires through voluntary interaction with each other.

The economy of you

09
—
10

The resultant diversification and proliferation of goods and services is the creation of wealth.

The economy of you

$$\frac{10}{10}$$

Wealth is the profusion of a diversity of goods, and the diffusion of them throughout society as a result of market activity.

The economy of you

